LIVE STOCK.

The trying effects of the unusually swerew inter on live stock has to some extent, been mitigated by the abundance of feed. Still, among young stock and stock unprovided with abelter, the loss has been heavy and the suff-ring intense. The heaviest loss has been with lambs and young pigs. Some correspondents estimate the loss of lambs at Stilp recent of the crop. Recent experience should impress upon farmers the economy of providing ample shelter for stock during the months of bad weather.

AN ODE.

TO LITTLE DWIGHT RANDALL ON HIS FIFTH BIRTHEAY

In Cloverport's sunny clime, Seventeenth March, five years ago, Where the summer days are prime; Was born a baby that I know.

Yes, this baby boy is lucky,
For heaven spreads its clearest skies
O'er his native state, Kentucky,
From where true, noble men arise.

My heart is full and o'er flowing Of good wishes for little Dwight, May life's light be ever glowing, May his sun ever shine out bright.

Keep faith in God and man,
Walk in the path of right,
Always do the best you can,
Little blue-eyed boy Dwight.
